

MANIFESTO

Rooted in New York. Heard everywhere.

The world is connected, but creative communities are still separated by scenes, borders and industries.

Local Service exists to bring them together.

Rooted beneath the streets of New York City, inside the Port Authority subway station, we are a meeting point for ideas, sounds, images and people. A record shop and radio studio where electronic music meets art, fashion meets culture, and local voices reach a global audience.

New York built the sound. The subway carried it across the city. We're sending it further.

WHAT MAKES LOCAL SERVICE DIFFERENT

A global creative network with a physical address, underground in New York City.

Local Service connects creative communities through a physical space, curated programming and collaborations across music, art, fashion and design.

01

An international team

A team with more than a decade across creative industries and international markets, connecting New York with talent and communities around the world.

02

A physical presence in NYC

A record shop and radio studio beneath the city. A real place to meet, listen and dig, at the busiest station complex in the subway.

03

Live from the studio

DJ sets streamed from the studio, alongside the stories behind the global electronic music scene. It's about the artists, their history and their favorite records, from the heart of New York to the world.

04

Built on collaboration

Collaboration is at the heart of Local Service. We aim to create real partnerships, built with each brand from the first conversation.

THE SPACE

A record shop and radio studio inside the New York City subway.

PROPOSED STUDIO / CONCEPT RENDERING

57.7M
annual entries at Times Sq / 42 St Port Authority

No. 1
busiest station complex in the New York subway

Unit 10
before the turnstiles, through the MTA's Vacant Unit Activation Program

Collaboration and connection are a big part of Local Service.

Let's talk about what we could create together. Patricia Keleher · patricia@localservice.nyc